

WeatherBELL Analytics

Marine Weather Forecasting

Plan For the Weather Before it Happens

Planning is essential to the yachting and marina industries. Accurate medium and long-range weather forecasting enables you to plan appropriately for the demands of an approaching storm or for the safety of yacht passengers, crew and vessel. Awareness of potential severe weather coupled with effective preparation can ensure smooth sailing and efficient operation.

Why WeatherBELL Analytics?

While there are many options for weather forecasting available to the marine industry WeatherBELL Analytics stands tall as the most accurate and longest range forecasting service in the market. While many services forecast a few hours to a few days ahead, WeatherBELL Analytics is looking weeks, even months into the future to help you plan for the entire yachting season, not just for tomorrow. Led by the 60+ years of combined experience between Chief Forecasters Joe Bastardi and Joe D'Aleo, the accuracy of WeatherBELL Analytics forecasts is uncanny and highly dependable.

What Forecasting Services are Provided?

Our tropical forecasts include both seasonal outlooks and daily tropical updates. The seasonal outlook will give you a clear look at the expected impact of the upcoming hurricane season, along with details on which locations are most likely to be impacted by tropical weather.

During the season, Joe Bastardi provides daily updates to keep you informed about the latest storm formation, and potential threat to yachting areas. Joe's daily forecasts include maps to outline the areas most at risk from severe weather or tropical formation. These updates are designed to let you know first about tropical cyclone formation.

Joe Bastardi will also provide daily marine forecasts year-round, focusing on the Caribbean and Atlantic.

- Base Package Includes: Tropical/Hurricane Seasonal Outlooks & Daily Tropical Forecasts May 15 through November 31
- Extended Package Includes: Base package plus year round daily marine forecasts

WeatherBELL Analytics LLC

555 5th Avenue, 17th Floor
New York, NY 10017
Phone: (212) 856-7259
sales@weatherbell.com